Introduction

The Stratford Festival has a long-established practice of providing high levels of customer service to its patrons. We strive for excellence on all four of our stages; the experience that a patron encounters when interacting with employees and volunteers - whether on the phone, through written communication, or in-person - also needs to meet this high standard.

The Festival aspires to extend this level of customer service to all patrons, including those with a disability. Many changes to our programs, facilities, and services in recent years have helped to improve our ability to serve patrons with disabilities.

The Festival is committed to providing reasonable accommodation to its patrons with disabilities. The Festival is also dedicated to continuous improvement, and will continue to evolve its practices in this regard.

Definitions

“Disability” as defined by the Ontario Human Rights Code as,

- (a) any degree of physical disability, infirmity, malformation or disfigurement that is caused by bodily injury, birth defect or illness and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, includes diabetes mellitus, epilepsy, a brain injury, any degree of paralysis, amputation, lack of physical co-ordination, blindness or visual impediment, deafness or hearing impediment, muteness or speech impediment, or physical reliance on a guide dog or other animal or on a wheelchair or other remedial appliance or device,
- (b) a condition of mental impairment or a developmental disability,
- (c) a learning disability, or a dysfunction in one or more of the processes involved in understanding or using symbols or spoken language,
- (d) a mental disorder, or
- (e) an injury or disability for which benefits were claimed or received under the insurance plan established under the Workplace Safety and Insurance Act, 1997; (“handicap”).

“Access” means that the Festival is committed to making its premises and services available to patrons with a disability by removing barriers, and in a manner that embraces the principles of dignity, independence, integration and equal opportunity.

“Dignity” means that service is provided in a way that allows the person with a disability to maintain self-respect and the respect of other people.

“Independence” means when a person with a disability is allowed to do things on their own, without unnecessary help or interference from others.

“Integration and Equal Opportunity” means that service is provided in a way that allows the person with a disability to benefit from the same services, in the same place, and in the same or similar way as other customers, unless an alternate measure is necessary to enable a person with disability to access goods or services. They should not have to make significantly more effort to access or obtain service. They should also not have to accept inconvenience or lesser quality. Sometimes this may mean that the Festival has to treat individuals slightly differently so that they can benefit fully from the services.

Accessible Patron Services

In demonstration of the Festival’s commitment to accessibility, an Accessibility Committee was established in 2007 with a mandate of:

1. Creating, monitoring, and amending policies relating to accessibility;
2. Identifying areas where the Festival may improve its buildings and services for patrons with disabilities;
3. Advocating for changes to policies, practices and facilities to further assist patrons with disabilities;
4. Making recommendations for capital spending in order to facilitate improvements to buildings or services;
5. Keeping abreast of new legislation and best practices in the area of serving patrons with disabilities; and,
6. Researching and reviewing new technologies and assistive devices as they become available.

The Festival recognizes that the provision of fully accessible services in accessible facilities is a process that is under constant review and improvement. Feedback on any aspect of the accessibility program at the Festival is encouraged from employees, volunteers and patrons, and will be reviewed and embraced by the Accessibility Committee.

Policy:

The Stratford Festival is committed to serving patrons with disabilities, and ensuring that those who use assistive devices will benefit from enjoying a fulfilling experience at the Festival.

Procedures:

The Festival will ensure that all employees and volunteers are aware of the various assistive devices provided by the Festival that may be used by visitors with disabilities while accessing our programs, products and services. Assistive devices are devices that are used to assist persons with disabilities in carrying out activities or in accessing the services of persons or organizations.

The Festival currently provides the following to assist our patrons with disabilities while attending a theatre performance:

- Wheelchairs are available to borrow, on a first come first serve basis and are located in the First Aid Room in each theatre. Patrons are to see an Usher or House Manager.
- Our theatres offer wireless, assistive listening radio frequency receivers which are available to borrow at no charge. Guests are encouraged to bring their own ear-buds/headphones for optimal performance though we do have a limited number of headsets to loan out. Our listening devices are also compatible with t-coil equipped hearing aids and cochlear implants. To ensure availability, please reserve your listening assistive device at the time of booking your ticket.
- Motorized door controls on barrier-free exterior doors in all buildings
- Elevators in all multi-level, public use buildings
- Special access parking; spaces at our Festival and Tom Patterson theatre may be reserved in advance at the time of ticket purchase
- Special access and companion seats, which need to be reserved at the time of ticket purchase
- Special access washrooms with assistive bars
- Hand railings in all theatres
- Braille House programs, which may be borrowed from the Coat Check (Festival Theatre) or House Manager (all other theatres) after the opening of the production(s).
- Magnifying sheets (to assist in reading house programs or other materials), may be borrowed from the Coat Check (Festival Theatre) or House Manager (all other theatres)

Festival employees and volunteers can assist patrons in locating and using assistive devices upon request.

The Festival also welcomes patrons who bring their own assistive devices (canes, wheelchairs, walkers, service dogs etc.) and provides accessible eating areas and theatre seating. Due to fire regulations and space limitations, large assistive devices (eg. walkers) will be stored outside of the auditorium during performances. Employees will assist in storage and retrieval of assistive devices. The Festival is not responsible for any lost/damaged items if they are stored during a performance.

Additional Assistive Services

The Festival contracts bus companies to provide direct round-trip transportation to Stratford from Toronto daily throughout the performance season. Patrons requiring accessible bus transportation need to reserve this in advance, and request an accessible vehicle at the time of reservation.

The Festival provides a live audio description service for patrons who are blind or have low vision on select performance. These performance dates are marked on the performance calendar with a  symbol. On selected audio description dates, the Festival provides touch tours to enhance your experience. An audio describer will lead you through a tour in which you'll be able to touch and handle fabrics, props and costume items for the play you are about to see. To book a tour, please contact the Box Office at 1-800-567-1600. These tour dates are marked on the performance calendar with a  symbol.

The Festival offers American Sign Language interpreted performances on selected dates for patrons who are deaf or deafened and communicate using ASL. These performance dates are marked on the performance calendar with an  symbol.

The Festival offers Open Captioned  performances on selected dates for patrons who are deaf or hard of hearing who may benefit from captioning technology to enhance or replace the spoken dialogue and sound effects.

The Festival offers Relaxed  performances on selected dates. Relaxed performances are specifically designed to welcome patrons who will benefit from a less restricted audience environment. Patrons of all abilities are welcome, including but not limited to those with intellectual or learning disabilities, sensory processing conditions or autism. There is a relaxed attitude to noise and movement within the auditorium, and some minor production changes may be made to reduce the intensity of light, sound and other potentially startling effects. Babies in arms are also welcome to our relaxed performances.

The Festival is committed to researching and implementing additional assistive devices as technology evolves and additional solutions become available.

Policy:

The Stratford Festival's customer service policies and procedures take a person's disability into account when communicating with the individual. Two-way communications is a process of providing, sending, receiving and understanding information. To communicate in an effective way, Festival employees and volunteers consider how the disability affects the way that the person expresses, receives or processes communications. Where possible, the Festival employee or volunteer asks the patron directly the best way to communicate with him/her.

Procedures:

The Festival uses a variety of ways, wherever possible, to make communications more accessible by:

- Considering the needs of people with disabilities during the planning stage of services and communication development.
- Using plain language to make a document easier to read for people with certain learning disabilities.
- Offering information in alternate formats:
 - Passing hand-written or typed information back and forth;
 - Braille house programs;
 - Printed hand-outs of commonly used information;
 - Magnifying sheets for reading;
 - Email as an alternate channel to provide accessible communication.

The Festival is continuing to research new technologies and is committed to improving the communications options available to patrons with disabilities.

Service AnimalsPolicy:

The Stratford Festival is committed to welcoming patrons with disabilities who are accompanied by a trained, accredited service animal. A service animal may accompany a patron or any third party with a disability to all parts of the premises that are open to the public. Service animals may be used for, but not limited to, the following disabilities: vision loss, physical disability, hearing loss, autism, epilepsy etc. Although service animals are most commonly dogs, other service animals could include, but are not limited to, ferrets, monkeys or other animals. The Festival ensures that all employees, volunteers and others dealing with the public are properly trained in how to interact with people with disabilities, who are accompanied by a service animal.

Procedures:

To be considered a service animal under this standard, it must either be readily apparent that the animal is designated and trained as a service animal. The person with a disability may be asked to provide a letter from a regulated health professional confirming that it is required because of his or her disability. The Festival enforces a general policy that does not permit pets inside the auditorium, however, service animals are exempted as they are considered working animals. They are used by people with disabilities to overcome barriers much like assistive devices like a white cane or a wheelchair.

Guide dogs or other service animals, including service animals in training, are allowed to accompany people with disabilities on the Festival premises in areas that are open to the public. If a patron with a service animal is intending to see a performance he/she needs to advise the Box Office representative when purchasing tickets so that an appropriate seat (aisle or special access) may be assigned. The House Manager and Stage Manager of the performance will also be advised that a service animal will be in the theatre.

At times, due to capacity, patrons with disabilities, accompanied by service animals may be advised that the crowded conditions may make it difficult to manoeuvre. If the service animal is causing a disturbance for other visitors, the patron and accompanying service dog may be required to leave the area or the Festival premises.

The owner is responsible to "stoop and scoop".

Patrons bringing a service animal need to review any patron advisories about special effects that are in a production that may affect their service animal (eg. noise, lights, other animals, etc.) This information may not be known at the time of booking, but can be confirmed by the box office staff and/or on site staff closer to the date of the performance. The Festival anticipates there will be special situations and is prepared to make every effort to accommodate the circumstances on an individual basis, as they arise, keeping safety to all patrons and service animals in mind.

For more information, patrons may contact our Box Office staff at 1-800-567-1600, or speak directly to an onsite staff member when they visit our premises.
